"We"

Dr. Arthur W. Roberts

In Memoriam

"Hunc video mihi principem ad ingrediendam rationem horum studiorum exstitisse."

These words spoken by Cicero of his tutor Archias, "I see this man stand out as my chief aspiration in the pursuit of a liberal education" express the feelings of hundreds of our graduates for that outstanding educator, Dr. Arthur W. Roberts.

Few in any generation have such compelling power of personality to spur youth to best effort. We shall not see his like again, for he belonged to the old guard in high schools and academies whose time-thinned ranks are not being repleted. The new order of American education which has already well-nigh banished Greek from secondary schools and now shows itself hostile to Latin is unable to enlist in the cause of classical learning champions equally valiant.

And what a prince among instructors this plumed Roman warrior was, able to command absolute attention in class, and to secure willing completion of long and hard daily marches through Latin prose and poetry, so potent was the spell which this leader cast over his followers by the force and charm of his personality. He could indeed be a stern disciplinarian, but very seldom had he any occasion for discipline. There was that about his presence that proclaimed a man with whom it was impossible to trifle. Furthermore, the regard of the pupils for Dr. Roberts so approached veneration that it was their will to do his pleasure; and so the spirit of his cohorts was always one of co-operation and efficiency.

But this loyalty and admiration was not confined to those who were privileged to sit under his instruction; the whole school was proud of the Doctor, and this pride was, we fancy, unconsciously enhanced by his distinguished looks: his white silky hair, brilliant brown eyes, clear complexion and finely chiseled features.

For a quarter of a century this great teacher poured out so copiously the riches of his natural endowment, high achievement, and ripe experience that he did much to fashion and establish noble traditions for our institution. Conspicuous for strength and beauty is the golden thread woven by his work and character into the fabric that constitutes the Brookline High School. Incalculable is the service this leader in his profession rendered youth as teacher, guide, and friend and no one can measure in time or extent the sweep of his influence. Like a ripple in the ether its limit is the infinite.

"That must not be considered your life which is bounded by the body and breath" said the greatest of Roman orators to Julius Caesar, "that, that I say, is your life which posterity will cherish and even eternity itself maintain."

Two Decades of Class Days

It seems hard now to believe that there was a dark period of history in which Brookline High School held no class days, but it is equally hard to believe that once upon a time the hillside behind the Old Building was a gentle, green slope broken here and there by gnarled old apple trees which were great bouquets of pink blossoms in June, and that at the foot of the slope was a velvety green bordered on three sides by an old-time lilac hedge. At lilac time the freshman girls used to present a sort of pageant showing why they should be welcomed to Brookline High.

This Lilac Day celebration gave to the far-seeing mind of our beloved Dr. Roberts the vision of a great festival which might he held each year, and in which every member of the School might participate, especial prominence being given to the Senior Class. The realization of this splendid vision came in the first Class Day, held in 1908.

At the first celebration there were many doubters who wished to see what a Class Day was like before answering the call to show their school spirit. Indeed, there were more girls and boys on the sidewalk than in the column that marched out of the school to the music of the Waltham Watch Factory Band. Now every boy who can raise the price of a pair of white ducks, every girl who can handle a needle is eager to be part of the pageant, and to be chosen a Marshal for Class Day is one of the most coveted honors which the School bestows.

As time has passed, a background of uniformity has evolved. The freshman girls wear white dresses, white stockings and black shoes; all the boys of the school year wear duck trousers, white shirts, black four-in-hand ties, and black socks and shoes. Color appears only in the class colors displayed on each left arm and in the groups selected as marshals and special dancers; and Miss Barnes' power of invention of new and beautiful costumes and special features never ceases to be a source of wonderment. Indeed the whole Physical Education department has co-operated wonderfully in training the marchers and dancers, and in conducting the interclass track meet and tugs-of-war which are the athletic feature.

There is a thrill which we all feel when the column of eights marches with splendid precision down the long flight of steps in front of the School and forms in great circles around the playground; when the girls, as in 1915, form a great star on the field and rotate, or when they, as in 1917, for ma human flag on the steps. Dull would he be of soul who would not be stirred by this magnificent spectacle of young manhood and young womanhood engaged in feats of strength and dances of symbolic beauty.

No record of Class Day would be complete without reverent tribute to Mr. Samuel W. Cole and his pioneer efforts in forming a band which should be able to function at all High School events. To all of the teachers whose faithful and effectual co-operation has brought the Class Day exercises, both indoors and out, to its present development tribute is due: but most of all to him whom we honor in memory today—Dr. Arthur W. Roberts. His imagination, his attention to detail, his power of organization waked our admiration; his genial humor, his patience and his courtesy won our love. The Class Day longest to be remembered is that on which, although illness had weakened his body, his indomitable spirit enable him to come to witness the festival which he had founded and fostered. His car was driven on the field and with his devoted wife he received the affectionate tribute paid by the Seniors to their able leader and constant friend as they passed him in the last review.

President's Address

The honor has been given me, as one of the pleasures of my office, to welcome you, our proud parents, our worthy teachers, and our warm friends. The interest in us and our successful completion of the High School course indicated by the presence of this large audience, is an ample reward for the accomplishment of four years' study and the conquest of many discouragements. We rejoice that we have the opportunity of sharing the pleasure of this with you, who have given your best to us that we might obtain an education.

We regret leaving the High School and the associations formed here with both teachers and classmates. We also regret, parents, that we must put away childish things to set out upon the precipitous pass of life and the difficult path of higher education. But, we gaze forward eagerly, for further chance to make our parents proud, our teachers confident in us, and our friends faithful to us by obtaining the most valued of all things, success through honest work and diligent study.

You have just witnessed the outdoor exercises made possible through the co-operation of the lower classes and the guidance of certain members of the faculty, and made successful by your attendance. Now you will learn interesting and personal information about us. You will hear of our accomplishments through our historian, and deep little secrets, our opinions of each other, both humorous and serious, in the prophecy; you will listen to the lawyer bequeath the vast effects of the Senior Class to the under classmen. You will discover our talent as presented by our orator who will make definitely clear to you our idealistic purpose in life.

Voila! Let us celebrate before the shades of night fall this day which belongs wholly to the Class of 1928.

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1928

HERBERT WILSON

Let it be known: that we, the class of 1928 of the Brookline High School, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament, thereby revoking any and all wills heretofore made by us.

After the defrayment of our funeral expenses and all just debts, we hereby give, devise, and bequeathe as follows:

First: To Mr. Akers and the faculty we leave our sincere gratitude for the unfailing interest which they have shown us throughout these four years.

Second: To the present Junior Class, we leave the honor and the dignity, the trials and tribulations, the joys and sorrows of upholding the name of the senior class of Brookline High School.

Third: To Mr. Hines, Mr. Fitzgerald, and the members of the athletic staff, we leave the glory of our past attainments in sport, and our best wishes for much future success.

Fourth: To Mr. MacNamara, we leave the record of a state swimming championship, and our assurance that he will secure many more state championships.

Fifth: To Miss Hannon, Miss Lewis, and their associates, we leave our stage fright and ability to forget lines, also our best wishes for bigger and better Senior Socials and Dramatic functions.

Sixth: To Mr. Jewett, we leave the dedication of our year book, whether he accepts it or not.

Seventh: Joe Levin leaves his "drag" and method of faculty diplomacy, as well as his favorite seat in Mr. Jewett's office to the "wisest" Junior to apply.

Ninth: Lulu Wilkinson leaves her "it" to Hope Gavagan, also some instruction on how to attract football captains.

Eleventh: Marianna McAfee leaves her ability to garner in honors to Gertrude Lakson.

Twelfth: The '28 History classes leave to Mr. Kepner one U. S. History College Board exam in which he will please give dates, whenever the nature of the question permits, or otherwise state the time relation.

Thirteenth: John Barnett leaves his sex appeal to Shack Dexter.

Fourteenth: Robert Lett leaves to any Junior who has nerve and length of arm enough to apply, two close seats in Mr. Packard's room for all slide lectures in '29.

Fifteenth: Ted Cole leaves his good looks to Charlie Record. Don't take this as a knock at Charlie.

Seventeenth: To Mrs. Nasmyth, we leave the responsibility of faithfully executing the pronounced policies of the late Henry Cabot Lodge.

Eighteenth: Charlie Richardson leaves some "inside dope" on how to get away with a bluff to Mel Anshen.

Nineteenth: Arnold Dane leaves some of his great height to Sammy Jacobs.

Twentieth: Lucille Klenky leaves Mr. Kepner the "floor" in all future 320 discussions.

Twenty-first: Izzy Summers leaves his loose and neglected ways of business management to some "tight" Junior who needs "loosening up."

Twenty-second: Hope Kelsey leaves her energy to Pauline Miller.

Twenty-third: Bill Koufman leaves his notoriety among the motorists to that quiet, submissive Junior, Eddie Duane.

Twenty-fourth: Dan Rollins leaves his great vocal ability to Bill Tilden's rival, Mr. Nash.

Twenty-fifth: Pauline Bunshaft, Marie Driscoll, and Dorothy Dangel leave their comradeship to any group of Juniors who are lonely.

Twenty-sixth: Albert Grennan leaves all his left-over "admit" slips to Mrs. Rogers.

Twenty-seventh: John Jewett leaves his diary to Hearst Newspapers.

Last: We, the senior class, leave all our homerooms, books, desks, and other senior facilities to our successors, the present Junior class.

We hereby nominate, and appoint as executor, Mr. Kepner, and request that he be exempt from giving any surety on his bond, as such.

Signed,

THE CLASS OF 1928.

In witness whereof, we, the Class of 1928, have signed, published, and declared this to be our last will in the presence of the undersigned, who at our request, in our presence and in the presence of each other have hereto subscribed their names as witnesses to said will.

I. HERBERT WILSON,
Class Attorney.

Witnesses:

2. Esther Rittenberg.
3. Thomas E. Fitzgerald.

RICHARD SIMMERS

Class History

CLASSMATES AND FRIENDS:

I hope that you will see fit to approve of what I have done.

Not feeling myself capable of compiling, by myself, a suitable history of this illustrious class, I have enlisted the aid of three of your classmates in this enterprise. It would, indeed, require a superman to give a faithful, truthful, and comprehensive picture of the interests, activities, and fortunes of this class before you—a class whose name has become synonymous for friendship, scholarship, and leadership: the CLASS OF 1928!

With there facts in mind I communicated with the three people who I thought could do justice to this work, asking them if they would please write to me, giving a brief and vivid description of our Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior years, respectively. I said brief, knowing that otherwise I should now be reading you another five-foot shelf of books. In spite of this admonition it has been necessary to cut a wealth of valuable material.

With the customary promptness that characterizes every action of the members of our class, I received the desirable information. The first letter was written by a very close and intimate friend of mine, a copy of which I now present to you.

DEAR DICK,

Certainly I shall be glad to help you out. I am not much at letter writing, but when one has a subject like this it is a pleasure. You asked me if I wouldn't write about our Freshman year in dear old B. H. S. Do I remember it?—and how! The time has passed quickly, too quickly, since our first year.

It must have been a terrible shock to the other classes when we entered the school to see how our brilliance topped them all. They never quite recovered. We started out true to form by making John Jewett, President, Charles Miller, Vice-President, Lucienne Wilkinson, Secretary, and Robert Marshall, Treasurer. The influence of our members was immediately felt throughout every activity in the school. Dan Rollins, Red Record, Roy Smith, and Dick Werner mauled the pig-skin. Hope Kelsey and Carol Densmore played field hockey. Esther Morison represented the girls and Marty Ford and Johnny Rae the boys on the swimming teams. Dorothy Dangel, Hope Kelsey, Carol Densmore, Marjorie Abrams, and Esther Morison made the Girl's Gym Team. Fred Janvrin, Marcus Alper, Clare Driscoll, and Howard Carver worked on the Sagamore. We swelled the numbers of the track and baseball teams, and of all the musical clubs. In fact, we were well represented wherever it was possible for us to take part. After a strenuous year, we kissed our dear teachers good-bye and retired for a well-earned vacation leaving behind for classes to come a record that may be aspired to but never duplicated.

One of our number, Ruth Aronovitz, died during the year which saddened many of us deeply.

I hope that these few recollections will be of assistance to you. It has been fun writing them up, and I hope that you will enjoy them as much as I have.

Call again,

R. S.

The summer passed quickly, as summers always do, and the second week in September found us again safely installed in school. The second letter from another intimate friend.

Cheerio, old top,

You want me to write the story of our second year, eh? Well, here goes!

Sophomores! What kind of picture does that word arouse in your mind? No, you're wrong. It will have to be admitted that the Class of 1928 always dressed and acted like human beings. We placed the direction of our fortunes in the hands of Jerry Vachon, captain, Louise Brown, executive officer, Eddie Brown, ship's writer, and John Jewett, paymaster. In the hands of these officers our good ship "Success" steered a true and straight course. We dazzled the bewildered Freshmen by the brilliance of our reception that opened the social season. Ralph Fay, Marty Ford, and Johnny Rae again for the sixth time aided in securing the coveted Meehan Trophy. Dick Werner, Teddy Cole, Herb Sovrensky, Jim Ryan, and Tom Regan gave the horsehide a terrific beating. Dick Simmers and Fred Blanchard wielded racquets, and Red Record, Roy Smith, and Ted Cole tore around the track much to the discomfort of their adversaries. Dan Rollins, Roy Smith, Dick Werner, and Red Record helped to defeat Newton for the first time in nine years. For the girls, Carol Densmore, Hope Kelsey, Dorothy Sanborn, and Louise Brown played first-string hockey. Carol Densmore was captain of the Girls' Gym Team. Esther Morison and Carol Densmore aided the Girls' Swimming Team to an undefeated season. Dorothy Dangel and Mark Mackey were among the eight chosen for Prize Speaking. On the "Sagamore" we again find Fred Janvrin, Marcus Alper, and Clare Driscoll with the addition of sixteen other members of our class, without whom the paper could not have survived. We did so well in our studies that the School Committee decided to grant the privilege of 1:30 dismissal to those having an average of "C" or better in their work in order to encourage the other classes to rise to our level. Thus our Sophomore year passed by, giving evidence of more promising things to come, and in June we retired for a brief respite to permit the other classes to recover from their strenuous efforts to keep up with us.

I could go on writing about this class forever, Dick, but I remember that you said "brief" so that I will have to sign off.

Adieu, and all other such expressions of good-bye,

D. S.

We all spent a restful summer knowing full well that our ability could surmount any obstacle that should be placed in our path during the ensuing year, and in September eagerly returned to the battle-front ready for the fray. The third and last of the letters runs like this.
What Ho, Richard,

This is no cinch of a job that you want me to undertake. There is so much material to write about that I have lost all hope of covering it adequately. I suppose that it is usual to begin at the opening of school, so read this and—smile!

The first important act of our Junior year was to elect Ted Cole, commander-in-chief, Esther Morison, 1st assistant, Bob Marshall, scribe, and John Jewett, guardian of the shekels. Dan Rollins, Henry Pollack, Bill Kaufman, Red Record, Dick Werner, Roy Smith, and Johnny Rae formed a part of the team that brought to Brookline its first Suburban League Football Championship, incidentally overcoming Newton on Thanksgiving Day. Marty Ford, Ralph Fay, Sumner Shikes, Johnny Rae, and Blaine Eynon, dived and swam us to our seventh victory in the Meehan Trophy Championship. Ryan, Lynch, Nyhan, and Wilson knocked out the homers. Red Record and Dick Werner, formed the back-bone of the track team. Steve Sleeper and Joe Lynch chased the puck around the ice. Fred Blanchard and Dick Simmers again played Tilden's favorite game. Among the girls, Carol Densmore captained the field hockey squad aided by Lucienne Wilkinson, Louise Brown, Jessamine Sherbert, and Hope Kelsey. Esther Morison and Carol Densmore represented us among the mermaids, and Esther Morison led the Gym Team. Our Junior Social Committee presented a series of entertainments that were unsurpassed. Sumner Shikes declaimed in our behalf at the annual Prize Speaking. In February nine of our members gained the coveted key of Alpha Pi, Marianna McAfee, Eleanor Anderson, Louise Brown, Dorothy Dangel, Clare Driscoll, John Jewett, and Hope Kelsey. This was a hitherto unprecedented number, and demonstrates well the abilities of our class. In the spring Newton Carlson, Lathrop Clark, Marianna McAfee, Polly Hanson, Marcus Alper, and Fred Janvrin were chosen to fill the important positions on the "Sag." In June, in spite of our loud and lengthy protests, the School Committee decided that we should adjourn for the summer for a much needed rest (especially those who took the College Boards).

If this is too long you will have to make it shorter yourself, I can't, I hope that it will be O. K., and I am glad that I could help you out.

I'll be seein' yu,

R. W. S.

And now being only human I have saved the best part for myself. With what mingled feelings did we enter upon this our last year! Fear, hope, ambition, and regret played their parts, but in the minds of all the determination to make this an unparalleled year of Success prevailed. The last lap of our race is now over. Have we won? I leave you to judge for yourselves.

With this idea before us, we again elected Ted Cole, president, with Esther Morison, vice-president, Hope Kelsey, secretary, and Eugene Record, treasurer. We were extremely gratified and flattered that so many members of the Class of 1927 came back to spend a year in our midst. Capt. Rollins led our football team composed of Jim Ryan, Red Record, Dick Werner, Henry Pollack, John Ball, Ben Lamont, Tom Regan, and Henry Lynch with Dana Goodale, manager, to a high standing in the Suburban League. On the Track Team which had a highly successful year defeating Newton twice, we find Red Record, captain, Henry Humphreys, manager, Dan Rollins, John Jewett, Al Prince, Sarkis Boghosian, Dick Werner, Melvin Linsky and Donald Freedman. Ralph Fay, captain, and Fred Janvrin, manager, led the Swimming Team to its eighth championship giving us permanent possession of the Meehan Trophy. On the ball-field Jim Ryan, captain and Isadore Summer, manager, aided by Bud Wilson, Herb Sovrensky, Henry Lynch, and Allen McDonnell, performed nobly.

Among the field hockeyists were Carol Densmore, Captain, Helen Navin, Lucienne Wilkinson, Hope Kelsey, Jessamine Sherbert, Dot Sanborn, Margaret Maher, and Louise Brown with Eleanor Anderson managing. Esther Morison again commanded the Girls' Swimming Team. Hope Kelsey presided over the Girls' League.

Our Senior Social was an unparalleled success clearing approximately six hundred dollars, a great part of which went toward a permanent set for our stage as our class gift. In the fall twelve of our members entered the Honorary Society, Marianna McAfee, president, and in March ten more. They were; Milton Finger, Bertha Stonehouse, Polly Hanson, Marion Arnett, Mary MacLellan, Jessamine Sherbert, Muriel Dunn, Martha Hardy, Helen Idell, Esther Morison, Isadore Summer, Howard Carver, Marcus Alper, Louise Barett, Robert Currier, Marie Driscoll, Charlotte Helman, Helen Levenson, Gertrude Nisson, Sumner Shikes, Richard Simmers, and Kathleen Ure. So many of our members gained the coveted key that the society is seriously considering stiffening its requirements. Quite a tribute to our ability! Robert Lett, Sumner Shikes and Mark Mackey were our representatives in Prize Speaking. In the cast of the "Poor Nut" the greatest dramatic success that Brookline has witnessed for years, were Robert Lett, head-man, Dan Rollins, John Jewett, Roger Wentworth, Dick Simmers, Hervey Armington, Henry Greenleaf, Bud Wilson, Ken Umlah, Dick Werner, Milton Finger, Helen Idell and Lucienne Wilkinson. Our Senior Dance was the crowning event of the social season. And—but time and space permit no more. From the record of our past you may gather a small idea of the fame and glory that the Class of 1928 will bring to itself and to its Alma Mater.

Class Prophecy

DANIEL ROLLINS

MARIANNA MCAFEE

TIME: 1938.

PLACE: Office of the Editor-in-Chief of the New York Times.

Enter Office Boy—Another fellow looking for a job.

M.—Send him in.

Dan (entering)—Good morning, Madame Editor, and how goes the paper? Must be rather hard without one really capable man. But your troubles will soon be ended. I have come to lend my services for a consideration.

M. (looking up)—Why—Dan Rollins!

D.—Mac! I didn't know you were the editor—say, isn't this great?

M.—Marvelous! Just like old times. Sit down and we'll have a good talk. By the way, how is Lucienne?

D. (nonchalantly)—Oh, I just came from her little modiste shop on Fifth Avenue. I've been watching the models. Say, three of them are old classmates of ours: Helen Navin, Clare Driscoll, and Elsa Handberg.

M.—Not really? Well, there is a number of the class of '28 on the paper here. Henry Greenleaf writes the "Advice to the Lovelorn" and his secretary, who does most of his work, is Martha Hardy. Eddie Brown is the head newspaper boy and on his staff of newsgirls are Catherine Murray, Rose Lindman, Florence Keywood, Mollie Nolan, and Alice Burke. Marcus Alper is the managing editor and Gertrude Nisson is my secretary. By the way, I wonder what's become of Hope Kelsey. I haven't seen her for years.

D. (laughing)—I saw her the other day. A fire engine was driving down Broadway and I never heard a fire engine make so much noise, but when I saw the driver I wasn't surprised. It was Hope. Three of the firemen were Tom Regan, Joseph Shapiro and Robert Finnerty.

M.—Well, well, how like her! Where was the fire?

D.—In Fay Silversmith's hotel. I got there just in time to see Henry Steinfeld in his new fireproof pajamas designed by Judith Cauman, jump from the 19th story into a net held by Robert Hickey and Walter Cusick. However they didn't do much good because Henry fell right through it.

M.—Oh yes, I heard about that fire. Quite strangely there was a group of girls staying there at the time who have formed a society for the promotion of Bigger and Better Fires. Lemme see—I have a list of them somewhere. Oh, yes, they are Katherine King, Bernice Meyer, Marjorie Marsh, Sarah Kaplan and Marjorie Dean. They had quite an article in the paper. By the way, speaking of the paper, my files must be full of news about the old bunch. Let's look and see.

D.—Fine.

M.—Here, you look these over. Oh, say, here's a snappy headline, "Police Raid Popular Night Club." The Orange and Black Night Club was raided by the police under the leadership of Capt. James Ryan and Sergeant Joseph Levin. Captain Ryan stated that he seized the proprietor Charles Dunker because of the name of the club. The guests arrested were: Ethel Eon, Wilfred Forbes, Helen Stewart, Dana Goodale, Helen Taylor, Charlotte Smith, Bertha Van Tassel, Melvin Linsky, Mary Hurley, Nicholas Martin, Rosemary Keefe, Carl Tishler, and Earnest Greenhood. Of course, the hostess, Miss Marion Lyons, and the bootleggers, Charles MacGinnis and Walter Egan, escaped. Huh, about half the senior class—not very loyal to the Red and Blue, were they?

M.—Well, well, how times have changed! "Millionaire Banker in Suit With Follies Girl."

Charles Somes Richardson, prominent Wall Street banker lost $500,000 in the breach of promise suit brought against him by Marion Arnett, well-known Follies girl. The plaintiff's lawyer, John Jewett, moved the jury to tears by his eloquent appeal. Among the sympathetic group of jurors were Henry Mack, Lawrence Andrews, Robert Gillis, Ruth Sheinwald, Sadie Sullivan, Lorraine Sibley, Helen Macomber and Irving Diemont. Judge Kenneth Umlah was unable to control his sobs. The attorney for the defense, Herbert Wilson, put forth a powerful refutation of Jewett's statements but was unable to convince the jury after they had once seen the girlish innocence of Miss Arnett."

D.—Listen to this: "Barnum and Bailey sign up New World Wonder." Arnold Dane, the tall man, who has grown two feet since he left school has just signed a contract with the great circus magnate for a year's tour of the country.

M.—Oh, look! Here's a review of Charles Purinton's latest book, entitled, "The Art of Wearing a Derby, With or Without Spats." He was assisted in this work by Ralph Fay.

D.—Here's an interesting ad: "Keep fit. Use Barnet's Petrified Bran. Guaranteed to grow hair on your chest. Endorsed by the country's leading athletes among whom are Rupert Marden, Fred Beaton, Paul Collins and Sylvan Rosoff."

M.—Well, well, "Robert Lett, wealthy fish merchant, founds an Asylum for actors of the part of the "Poor Nut" who are unable to come out of it." That's interesting—and hear this: "Helen Idell, prominent woman scientist, discovers a cake of Ivory Soap that is only 99 45/100% pure. This fact has astounded the leading scientists of the country."

D.—My, I should think it would. Say, speaking of Helen, the other day while I was up in my plane, I met the inevitable pair, Jessamine Sherbert and Dede Sanborn out in their collegiate airplane, the "Spirit of Nervous Prostration." They had been riding with Steve Sleeper and Bob Marshall and had just made the boys parachute home. I looked down and saw the latter floating through space way down there below me. Later on I saw Louise Brown and Constance Chase in their amphibious Ford, invented by David Zintz. It will run on land, in air, or in water. I also saw Mary Steele, and Henrietta Thompson. Say, what's become of Dick Simmers?

M.—Haven't you heard? He's playing the organ now.

D.—You're kidding!

M.—Really. Listen—there he is with his hurdy gurdy now. Come see.

(They go to the window.)

That's Milton Finger with him. Dick couldn't get a monkey so he hired Milton instead. They have a little song which Dick sings while Milton dances. It's called "You May Be a Boon To Your Mother, But You Look Like a Baboon to Me." He makes a good living playing outside the homes of Hermine Hopkins, Irene Marks, Catherine Minehan, Demetra Racheotes, and Dorothy Logan. Dorothy has changed her name, however. She's the wife of one of New York's leading furriers. Well, let's see what else we can find in the papers.

D.—Here's an announcement of a meeting of Eleanor Lieb's "Be Yourself Club." They are initiating Helen Steeves, Olivan Tolman, Julia McCarthy, Clara Dietz, and Dorothy Lutz.

And what do you know about this. "First Woman World Champion Boxer Interviewed by Sporting Editor of the Times." Jo Smith, in her interview with Gordon Henshaw, sporting editor, stated that she learned her remarkable technique in high from George Barrie. She also gave much of the credit for her success to her sparring partner, Bessie Jacobs."

M.—Oh, listen, here's a good one:

"American Consul Adopts Turkish Customs.

"Edward B. Cole, U. S. Consul to Turkey, has adopted the habits of the country, having established himself in a harem and wearing Turkish clothes entirely. Mr. Cole writes that he is very happy in his new surroundings."

D.—Yes, and I'll bet the surroundings are happy too. Speaking of Turkey, I was right near there recently. I went on a Round-the-World Tour in Milton Wright's big 50-passenger aeroplane. Our slogan was "See the world through a telescope." Izzy Summers was manager of the trip and several of the passengers were members of the class of '28. I have a booklet about the trip with a list here somewhere. Here it is. They were Florence Lupton, Mary Mahon, Helen King, Charlotte Helman, Frank Robinson, Charles Conry, John Kelly, Marcella Warren, Sylvia Singer, and Rebecca Malkin.

M.—Well, that was certainly a reunion. Tell me something about the trip. It must have been lots of fun.

D.—Yes, we had a great time. When we were flying over China we noted some commotion down below, so we landed and found Eleanor Anderson being murdered by bandits. Armed with B. H. S. baseball bats that Izzy had brought along, we rescued her and captured the gang. We had some surprise though, because when the bandits unmasked, they turned out to be none other than a bunch of our high school friends. Carol Densmore was the chief, and her fellow bandits were, Frank Killam, Cecil Gabbett, John Coutts, Joseph Murray, Vincent Orlinski and Thomas Mawhinney. Then, when we were flying over Egypt, we decided to land on the Sahara but couldn't find it and flew for hours before we found out that it had been irrigated by Joe Stranahan and Eliot Reynolds. We saw a great bull fight while we were in Spain and when it was over discovered that the fellow who threw the bull was "Chub" Blanchard. So you see our class is well represented in the far corners of the earth.

M.—How perfectly thrilling. My, I wish I had been with you! And, speaking of tours here's an interesting announcement:

"A gold digging expedition under the leadership of Pearl Goldman has just set out for a tour of the country. The members of the party are: Minna Beal, Mary Gorman, Phyllis Green, Patricia Gavin, Lillian Williams, and Miriam Weinrebe." Bet they got their experience in high school! And here's an ad:

"McDonnell and Sovrensky—Pawn Shop.

High Rates on Fraternity Pins."

You know, that's quite a popular place. The other day I saw Pauline Norris, Louise Umschied, and Mona Rankin all coming out of the shop together. I went in, just curiosity's sake and found Rusella Andrews and Hazel Bell working as bookkeepers.

D.—You don't say.—And here's a corker. "Prominent Theatrical Producer in Row with Star."

Fred W. Janvrin, the well-known producer, is at present striving to pacify the great tragedienne, Marie Driscoll, who is threatening to break her contract with him. A few nights ago upon discovering in the midst of a love scene that her leading man had halitosis she became temperamental and started to throw things. The audience got panic-stricken and left in fright. Several women fainted and many were struck by flying objects. Among the injured are: Pauline Hanson, Mabel Goode, Lawrence Dean, Donald Freedman, Leslie Schmidt, Robert Barry, Elizabeth Nevergelt, Edith Prince, Carl Jahnle, William Coutts, Esther Rittenberg, Caroline Rosenthal, and Henry Canada. Two stage hands, Edward Goldfine and James Dunphy, are in the hospital."

M.—Well, you know, these red-heads! Here's something about Gerald Reynold's book, "The Cohens and the Kelley" whose four leading characters are Beatrice Cohen, Marjorie Cohen, Sylvia Cohen, and Mary Kelley. The publishers are Dunn and Bigelow. By the way, these same publishers have just put Thomas Duncan's new dictionary on the market.

D.—Oh, listen to this. "Popular Movie Idol Visiting New York."

M.—Well, what do you expect? A class like this is bound to get into the limelight. And here's another. "World's Fastest Method of Transportation Completed."

The Rapid Transit Chute invented by Robert Currier was christened here today with great ceremony. This chute is built over the ocean and will shoot one from Boston to Paris in five minutes. At the opening of the terminals built by Lynch and Mackey, Alice McCullough broke a bottle of milk from the Brookline High School lunch room on the Boston end and Barbara Moor in Paris christened it was a bottle of champagne. Among the notables that witnessed the christening were Bertha Stonehouse, Jean Thayer, Helen Wright, Ruth Walker, Lois Ormes, John Ball, Harold Broudy, Charlotte Kornberg and Helen Levenson.

D.—Yes, that must be quite a ride. Speaking of the ocean, I see here that one of our old classmates has performed quite a feat in the acquatic line.

"Powerful Swimmer conquers Atlantic Ocean.

Esther Morison, well-known swimmer, swam the Atlantic Ocean, being the first person to accomplish this feat. She attributes much of the credit for her success to her trainer, Walter McTigue, and her manager, Stanley Lewenberg, who accompanied her in a rowboat. She was also cheered to victory by these friends who went along in canoes: Dorothy Mullowney, Margaret Murphy, Agnes Murtagh, Mary Taglino, Gertrude Krantz, and Margaret Maher."

M.—Wonderful! Here are some more ads:

"Art Course by Kathleen Ure on "How to Draw Pigs with your Eyes Shut."

Some of my best pupils are: Margaret Martin, Eunice Ludwig, and Ruth Wolper."

"Use Boghosian's Breadknives—Endorsed by the Cass Bros."

D.—Yes, and here's another: "Dangel and Bunshaft—Coffin Makers. We stand behind our coffins. Ask any of these famous people who are our satisfied users: Marjorie Abrams, Hazel Innis, Roslyn Cherney, Ruth Linscott, Ruth Douglas, Evelyn Files, Dorothy Stengel, and Rhoda Page."

M.—Well, well! '28 even has a lot of women in politics. "Governor" "Bossy" Klenke choses her staff consisting of Alice Ford, Frances Hinden, Harriet Johnson, Ruth Hubbart, Evelyn Gerstein, and Elizabeth Linden."

D.—Say, Mac, have you been in Roger Wentworth's tea room? Sweetest place. The head waiter is Henry Pollock and the others are Joseph Richmond, Jerome Rosenfeld, and Maxwell Rabinowitz.

M.—Yes, it's quite a place. By the way, did you hear that Al Prince jumped from Boston to New York?

D.—Hump! How many jumps?

M. (laughing)—I don't know—I guess he must have jumped on the train and off again!

D.—Oh say, here's one we missed!

"First Expedition to Reach Mars."

"A Mars Expedition, using the new winged roller skates, invented by Morris Stolow, has finally met with success. Under the leadership of Helene Mettetal, the following group set out for Mars having had practice roller-skating home from rides when in Brookline High: Margaret Cox, Martha Goldshine, Annie Gray, Jean Hamilton, Margaret Carrigan, Marguerite Harding, Marjorie Blake, Louise Barrett, Helen Brennan, and Jean Morrison. Much to their surprise, they found it was inhabited by one person, namely Eugene Record of high school fame, who was seeking peace and solitude after the embarrassment caused him by walking into a turkish bath on ladies' night." Well, I'll be ——. So good old Red is up in Mars.

M.—Is he there?

D.—No, he's there alone. It says he is seeking solitude.

M. (laughing and rising)—Well, Dan, we've certainly had a great time, and so, in view of the old days, I'm going to make you my right hand man. Okay?

D.—Okay!

(They shake hands and exeunt.)

CLASSMATES:

The gates are open! This vast, confusing twentieth century world stretches before us, and with little fear but with great self-confidence we venture into this world of vexing problems, of problems different from those of two score years ago, of problems presented by a different universe. Today we face the difficulties of an age of science, of an age of great financial competition. We see an era of unheard of prosperity, of new standards of living, of marvelous inventions. We know it to be a time of free thinking and of free expression. Fate, or whatever you wish to designate it, has placed us in this ultra-modern age.

We are the citizens of to-morrow. On us rests the responsibility of carrying on the work of our fathers and of maintaining the same fine level of this country; more than that of raising this level to a nobler one, by the strength of character and leadership which we must prove that we possess. World progress depends on the bettering of each generation. Our generation has had the advantages given to us by our predecessors by which to make ourselves better citizens. As better citizens we should provide a better world in which to live, thus shall the improvement of this world take place under our efforts.

In future years, my classmates, after we have climbed to the height of our daring ambitions, in the great outside spaces, as we have lately climbed to them within these walls, we shall then realize more fully and with deeper understanding, what the teachings of this old school have really meant to us. It is then that we shall appreciate the advantage afforded us by this modern educational institution, from which we are about to graduate.

We have reached a small peak in the mountain of life. Before us is the future. Whether this future is to be a dark valley of failure and discouragement, or whether it is to be a fertile plain of success and happiness, depends on the method in which we make use of our various talents. In the distance, perhaps a trifle hazy, higher and nobler peaks await our efforts. We must gain these summits; it is there that success awaits us. Then at the horizon, when the sun sinks slowly, may it show a path of glory blazed across the sky of history by our generation.

VISION

Gods bearing gifts! Let us not choose in vain!
A legend I once heard, comes back again.
When e'er a youth set forth on journey bent
Fair gifts gods brought, with good intent.
To try a youth—, or so the story goes—
The gods once offered choice, a deep red rose,
Full blown and beautiful beyond compare,
Against a sapling rose tree, seeming bare.
He chose; his choice the lovely full blown flower
Whose beauty could not live beyond the hour.
Oh foolish one, who could not wisely know
The sapling rose tree, through long years will grow.
The rose is fair, but fairer far the tree;
Its flowers, immortal, bloom eternally.
Gods bearing gifts! Let us not choose in vain!
For here to us today is come again
The chance to choose. We are the travellers free;
Our goal's within our choice. Then choose the tree.
The hours, the gods, they stretch their bounteous hands,
Bearing whatever gifts our heart demands.
Rose tree and rose. O Lord, we pray to Thee,
Help us through all our lives to choose the tree.

The Class of 1929

President, CHANDLER HAGEN-BURGER Secretary, EDWARD HANNON

Vice-President, JACQUELINE DENSTEN Treasurer, MARJORIE NORWOOD

The Class of 1929 has made rapid strides since its entrance to Brookline High School as Freshmen three years ago. The boys and girls have shared honors both in sports and scholastic ranking. One finds the members of the Class represented in Dramatics, on the Sagamore, as Marshals, and in many other school activities.

The one junior social of the year was considered both a social and a financial success.

One of the highest honors of the school was realized when thirteen members of the junior class gained entrance to the Honorary Society in the Spring elections.

The class looks forward to a splendid senior year, and hopes that the fine spirit shown in the past may be carried on when we return to school in the Fall.

The Class of 1930 began its second year at the Brookline High School with a warm reception to the Freshmen. Thanks to the excellent work of the Committee and splendid co-operation of the teachers, we were able to bring a closer relationship between the two classes.

Outside the school curriculum, the members of the Sophomore class have been quite prominent, being well represented in the Senior Social and in both major and minor parts in the School Dramatics.

In Athletics we have made a good showing, members participating in swimming, track, football, and baseball.

Those Sophomores who have procured a Varsity letter have accomplished quite a feat and deserve much credit.

The Class of 1931

President, CHESTER LITMAN Vice-President, DONALD BROADBENT

Secretary-Treasurer, FLORENCE FREEDMAN

The Class of 1931 has the distinction of being the largest class which has ever entered Brookline High School and it has had, up to the writing of this brief history, a very successful year.

The President became a member of the Teacher-Student Council and the Court of Justice, honors given every class president; in addition Fred Sherry and Alice Werner were represented respectively in the same association.

In sports 1931 has made a good beginning, with two lettermen, Donald Broadbent and John Prendergast, both of whom won their B's in swimming. In Football the boys were very successful, winning all games played, including one with Newton '31.

Among the girls Rosalind Badaracco and Alice Werner distinguished themselves in athletics, and secured a B, almost an impossibility in the Freshman year.

The year has been saddened by the death of one of our members, Katherine Schick, March 20. The Class of 1931 extends to her family its deepest sympathy.

This year the membership of the Honorary Society has increased remarkably, for there are now forty-four members, a larger number than ever before. The beginning of the year saw us with nine members, soon augmented by the initiation of twelve seniors in the fall, and, later on in the year, ten seniors and thirteen juniors.

The Juniors are to be especially commended for their showing in Alpha Pi this year. Their number is considerably larger than that of the Seniors who were initiated at the same time, and, for the most part, their points greatly exceeded those of the Seniors, especially in Scholarship.

Alpha Pi aside from giving honor to its members, greatly aids the school. It gives the pupils something to strive for, some tangible reward for effort in their work and activity in the school life. Alpha Pi is a goal which should be sought and cherished by every freshman and attained by every Senior. To wear its key proves both excellence in scholarship and prominence in activities.

The Teacher-Student Council

Chairman, Mr. Packard Vice Chairman, Chandler Hagen-Berger

Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Ricker

Faculty Members:
Miss Bliss, Miss Gardner, Mr. Hines, Mr. Hollingsworth, Miss Lewis, Miss Sawyer, Mr. Taylor.

Student Members:
John W. Jewett, Edward Cole, Edwin Brown, Jacqueline Densten, Frank Neer, Ruby Brettler, Chester Litman, Fred Sherry.

The Teacher-Student Council is a representative body made up of seven teachers elected by the faculty, four students elected by the marshals, the president of each of the four classes, the chairman of the Board of Marshals, the athletic coach, and the dean of girls.

It seeks, as its highest aim, to establish a spirit of loyalty and hearty co-operation throughout the school. To this end a pamphlet entitled "Standards" has been published and distributed by the Council during the past year. The purpose of such a publication is to promote good behavior of the student body in and about the building and at school parties. Again this year a vigorous effort has been made to raise the percentage of attendance, to diminish the tardiness, and to establish courtesy so that it shall become a habit throughout life.

Under the direction of the Council the electrotypes of the school have been collected, classified, and filed in a cabinet under proper headings.

At the State Convention of Teacher-Student Councils, held in Lowell on February 22, 1928, the Council was represented by three delegates. Through their efforts Brookline was chosen as the place of the Convention for next year.

The Council this year has also revised the code of rules for marshals, for it is this body who reflects the wishes of the Council and are in direct control of the discipline of the school. Upon the marshals, under the guidance of the Council, rests the honor and the burdens of maintaining the ideal of a self-disciplined institution.

Captain of Marshals, JOHN W. JEWETT

Faculty Advisor, MR. PRIEST

The Court of Justice represents the judicial division of the governing body of the High School. It passes judgment upon various infringements of the school regulations. The purpose of the court is to give the student just compensation for his misdemeanor from the viewpoint of the student body and to try to aid him in his weakness. The decision of the Court of Justice is subject to the criticism of the Headmaster only.

Students judging each other makes for a greater sense of responsibility. It gives the accused student a feeling that he is receiving fair judgment from a body that thoroughly understands both the student and the faculty viewpoint of a question, whatever may come up. It fosters respect for authority and raises a desire of co-operation in the mind of the student.

The Court of Justice considers such cases as may be referred to it by the Headmaster, the Captain of Marshals, or the faculty. The court holds the approval of faculty and student body and is a part of a very successful method of student government.

The Marshals this year have, as in previous years, carried out their duties in the corridors, lunchroom, and study rooms.

Successful student government depends on the co-operation between the student body and its popularly elected government. The Captain of the Marshals takes this opportunity to thank the school for its co-operation with them.

May the Marshal body of future years be bigger and better!

Each year, the Girls' League of B.H.S. becomes more truly representative of all the girls in the student body. The increase in membership this past year from approximately 300 to over 500 as well as the increase in the number of activities has been very significant. The League's fundamental purpose is to establish a spirit of good fellowship and loyalty among all the girls of the school and to inspire in each individual an interest in some one or more of the school's extra-curriculum activities.

The program of the League's meetings this year followed the plan inaugurated last year. The first meeting in September was in charge of the Seniors and took the form of a most successful Welcome Party to the incoming Freshmen. At the second meeting the Junior girls were in charge and put over one of the liveliest Hallowe'en parties ever given within the portals of a dignified institution of learning. In December the Sophomores ran one of the most worth-while meetings ever attempted by the League. While the girls chatted and munched candy, they were also dressing rag-dolls and making scrap-books, which later to the number of 60 were sent as most welcome gifts to the Children's Hospital. When it came their turn in March, the Freshmen held up their end by giving a delightfully amusing and original entertainment.

One of the new activities of the League this year took the form of a reception for the girls of 1931 and their mothers. At this meeting, a leader representing each of eleven extra-curriculum activities spoke at some length about her particular organization. The meeting proved very enlightening to both the girls and their mothers.

One innovation sponsored by the League this year was a lecture by a member of the B.H.S. Faculty, Mr. Packard, who gave a fascinating talk, illustrated with slides on "Here and There in Astronomy."

Another important task undertaken by the Girls' League for the first time this year, was the collecting and selling of approximately 300 pounds of candy at two performances of Senior Dramatics. This added a substantial sum to the Boys' Scholarship Fund.

One of the most vital pieces of work done each year by the Girls' League is in the hands of the Senior Advisors—a group of Seniors and Juniors who, as individuals, act as special advisors to individual Freshmen or other "new girls." In the spirit of friendliness and co-operation the advisors extend to the new girls a welcome to all the new conditions and activities of High School life, and furnish advice when it is necessary.

Perhaps it would be fair to claim that this year of '27-'28 has witnessed more than average accomplishment in fulfilling the ambition of the Girls' League to function vitally as a connecting link between the scholastic, athletic, and social activities of the Brookline High School.

During the year 1927-1928 the Sagamore has improved steadily under a hard-working board and a willing staff.

At an assembly early in the fall a call was put forth for contributors and new writers. In answer to this there was a hearty response from which the editor has gathered a wealth of good material. New features and columns have been introduced which brightened the paper and gave it a new tone of activity.

The Sagamore is now in the hands of a new board who are making splendid progress in producing a still better paper, with original ideas of their own. The old board takes this opportunity to wish them the best of success in the coming year.

The Board also wishes to extend to the faculty advisors its sincere appreciation of their helpful counsel and friendly interest.

Four-Minute Speakers

Any members of the High School who desire to engage in public speaking may at the same time render a very real service to the school by joining the Four-Minute Speakers. This group holds itself ready to speak in the home rooms on school activities for which publicity is desired.

During the current year more than fifty students have met Miss Sawyer for instructions about once a month, and have later spoken on such subjects as Red Cross Membership, Sophomore Social, Senior Social, the need of reducing tardiness, Dr. Campbell's lecture, and the sale of season baseball tickets. Their earnest efforts have contributed materially to the success of the activities for which they were speaking.

MURIEL DUNN

"Le Cercle Francais"

President, MURIEL DUNN — Vice-President, ELIOT HURWITZ

Secretary, GERTRUDE LAKSON — Treasurer, WILFRED BOUVIER

In the eighth year of its existence "Le Cercle Français" has continued to be enjoyed by the students eligible in French. Since the standard for membership has been raised the large attendance at the meetings was gratifying.

The program, this year, began with the Christmas party at which the Freshmen entertained. They gave a delightful performance of "Le Miracle de Saint Nicolas," directed by Miss Henry, after which Eliot Hurwitz, as Santa Claus, distributed the presents.

The January meeting, owing to the absence of the president, was in charge of Gertrude Lakson, the secretary. A reading by Marie Driscoll and songs by Miss Henry provided the entertainment.

In March, Wallace Fowlie, president of the French Club in 1926 and now a student at Harvard University, gave an interesting talk on "Les Jeunes Americains et la Langue Française."

The officers hope that they have helped to create a greater interest in France and in the French language. With a great regret they resign their positions, after a year of pleasure, and extend their best wishes to the success of next year's "Le Cercle Français."

El Circulo Espanol

President, LUCY BENEJAM Vice-President, POLLY HANSON

Secretary-Treasurer, BERTHA STONEHOUSE

El Circulo Español was founded in 1922 with the hope of creating both a deeper interest and a more sympathetic understanding of Spanish as a language and Spain as a country. The present members of the Circulo feel that in following the fine precedent set by groups of past years, this hope, for them too, has been realized.

In the meetings, which have been held once a month, and which have been attended only by those students, who by highest class-room work have shown themselves anxious and worthy of membership, an informal time has been struck which has proven very successful. The language spoken has been Spanish, and the entertainment such as has created an atmosphere sympathetic to Spanish life and customs. In this manner members have "learned with thought so no labor is lost."

The Domestic Science Club

President, LORAINE SIBLEY — Secretary, ESTHER GRAHAM

Vice-President, BARBARA WADE — Treasurer, RUTH MITNICK

Faculty Advisors, MISS SMITH and MISS JONES

The first meeting of the year was held in October at which the officers were elected.

The November meeting consisted of the business meeting, at which the members ordered their pins, and a social hour followed.

The January meeting was held in Shailer Hall with a splendid entertainment prepared entirely by the members of the club.

An unusual meeting of the year was the one in March. Twenty-five girls, with Miss Smith and Miss Jones went to the Walter Baker Chocolate Factory.

The April meeting was held in Shailer Hall with a very clever group of charades for the entertainment.

The Domestic Science Club is growing larger every year, but in order to be a member one must have a "C" average in Domestic Science.

The Club has had a very prosperous year and we wish to thank Miss Smith and Miss Jones for their co-operation.

Phi Sigma Delta

President, BARBARA MOOR Secretary-Treasurer, BLANCHE TAYLOR

One year older is the Phi Sigma Delta, or Society of Fine Arts, and we see it prospering continually. The high ideals which have surrounded this organization have been strengthened by various visits to Art Museums and to small exhibitions in some of the more distinguished galleries. These visits have taught the members to appreciate the marvelous technique in the contributions of some of our greatest masters in all the various fields of Art, including Fine, Decorative, and Futuristic types.

However, not altogether does this Club center its interest on themselves, but, on the other hand, a very successful attempt was made to impart some of their good times to the faculty at the annual party held on St. Valentine's Day.

At another of our home meetings, the Art Club enjoyed listening to Miss Bliss talk on her trips through the West last summer. Her speech was most interesting and enlightening.

Thanks to the hearty co-operation of its faculty advisors, Mrs. Thurston, Miss Parker, and Miss Horn, this extremely worth-while organization has been able to have every possible advantage for appreciating the the Artistic Universe.

The Aero Club, which was organized in October, 1927, and which was, we believe, the first High School Aero Club in New England, proved popular from the start. In a short time sixty boys were attending the meetings.

Officers were elected and stationery, membership cards, and pins were secured.

This is the only club in this community which is concerned with making popular a means of travel and communication which, while still in its infancy, is destined to enjoy phenomenal growth.

Early in February, the Club was asked to sponsor an exhibition of aviation photographs, which was readily agreed upon and resulted in a striking success.

The outstanding meeting of the year was Guest Night, observed in February when over 200 people were present.

In March, a colorful ceremony took place in the Hotel Statler, when Lieutenant Albert F. Hegenberger was made an honorary member.

In response to an invitation of the Boy Scouts of Brookline, the Club had a large booth at their exposition held in the Town Hall in April.

Under Club auspices, the project of placing an air marker on the roof of the auditorium was undertaken. It also undertook the playing of a prominent part in the Class Day exercises.

The Club takes this opportunity to thank the people and organizations, especially the Brookline Public Library, which have co-operated with them in their work.

Every member of the Aero Club wishes to extend his thanks to Mr. Downing for his untiring efforts in making the club a success.

Because this troop is one of the many extra-curricula activities sponscored by the school the meetings and work of the girls are so planned that there is also time for either athletic team work or other clubs such as the Glee Club. The Patrol meetings start at 2:15 every Thursday and are followed by the Troop meeting and general scout activities at 2:30 which officially last until 3:30; frequently, however, the entire troop is adjourned early so that those members who wish to attend some athletic meet may do so. Membership in the High School Troop of Girl Scouts is open to any girl in the school. This year the membership has increased from 15 to about 40; many of these have entered the work for the first time, while others have transferred from troops to which they belonged before coming to this school. As the troop became larger it was necessary to have more officers; Miss Roberston kindly consented to become First Lieutenant and two of last year's patrol leaders became Second Lieutenants.

Activities this year have covered many fields. In girl scout work merit badges for citizenship, health, first aid, home nurse, child nurse, pioneer, nature projects, and various other lines are being earned, while many of the members are moving up one step in rank. The two second lieutenants have been told that they are to receive the much desired Letter of Commendation in May at the annual rally. At present Miss Henry is helping them learn the songs which are to be sung at the State Rally in the Boston Arena. The troop gave a demonstration of scout work at the Girls' League reception to new girls and their mothers, and also sent a patrol to help in the Washington Birthday program. In the work of service to others they have continued to help in caring for the school emergency room; at Christmas time many scrapbooks, paper dolls, and toy stuffed stockings, all made by the troop, were taken to the Children's Hospital; and the scholarship fund is slowly but steadily growing. Ten trees in the Franconia Notch, N. H., were purchased by the troop as its share in the attempt to save this beauty spot from destruction for lumber.

But they do not always work!! During the February vacation 17 girls went on an overnight hike to Cedar Hill in Waltham where the coasting and skiing were excellent; and what food they cooked! Before that there had been some shorter hikes and parties.

This year all the social entertainments were planned and executed by three committees, consisting of pupils of the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes with members of the Faculty. Each committee succeeded admirably in accomplishing its purpose, that of tickling the peculiar convivial spot in the heart of all high school students. This was achieved by presenting interesting vaudeville acts, and furnishing music for dancing.

The Sophomores in November gave a welcoming social to the Freshmen, presenting a minstrel act, another playlet, and dancing for their guests.

On April ninth, the Juniors devoted their social to all modes, manners, and kinds of dancing.

The Seniors, of course, gave a most successful combination of vaudeville and dancing. Minstrel and cabaret with other feature acts were included, and later dacing followed in Shailer Hall with refreshments for all.

In short all three socials were such successes that everyone had "a very merry, dancing, singing, laughing, quaffing, and unthinkable time."

Vice-President, MARJORIE NORWOOD Treasurer, ROGER WENTWORTH

The Band was organized in the early part of the school year, and led by our untiring leader, Mr. Zanzig, made a fine showing at several games, including the famous Newton-Brookline game Thanksgiving Day.

In the second part of the year, Mr. Zanzig obtained for us a new band-master, Mr. B. F. White, a professional, who immediately showed his efficiency by launching a membership campaign. Many new players were soon added to the organization, and as they are of the three lower classes, will furnish a fine nucleus for next year.

The Boys' Glee Club

President, THOMAS REYNOLDS — Secretary, FREDERICK GLOVER

Vice-President, HAROLD SMALL — Treasurer, ALVIN WEINBERG

Director, MR. RING

The Boy's Glee Club has been a musical organization of Brookline High School for three years. In this time it has steadily maintained a worthy position among the musical organizations.

Originally created for the purpose of forming and maintaining a love for music among the boys at B. H. S. to promote musical education and to give the boys who sing, an organization in which they might express themselves in singing, it has proved its success by its steady increase in membership.

When the first call for boys went out in October, sixty boys responded, and immediately took up the work of improving the Club; as a result some took an important part in the production of "Pinafore" presented by the Brookline Teachers' Club.

This year the Club had as its director, Mr. Ring, an able successor to Mr. Zanzig. It was under his direction that the Glee Club was able to participate in both the aforementioned productions and the Christmas celebration arranged by Mr. Zanzig.

The Girls' Glee Club

Leader, MR. RING President, GERTRUDE NISSON

The Girls' Glee Club of 1928 aroused a most keen interest in the pupils, when the call for candidates came in October. An overwhelming attendance continued until December, when Mr. Ring found it necessary to diminish the number by a process of elimination. Each girl was tried, and if she stood the test, she was considered a full-fledged member.

The Club made up a portion of the Christmas Festival program. Some of the members did their bit by participating as choristers in the performance, "Pinafore," presented by the Teachers' Club. The whole group sang at the afternoon and evening performances of the George Washington Day celebration. At a lecture given in the Auditorium, the Club rendered a few selections.

On May 11, the Club participated in a Glee Club Conclave, held at Jordan Hall. This gathering included various musical organizations throughout the New England States.

The football team of 1928 began the season seriously handicapped. Several veterans were unable to play. A green team acquired experience through the pre-season games. In spite of continued defeats the spirit and the confidence in Coach Hines was never daunted.

This spirit brought the team of 1928 through a fine league season culminating with the Newton game, a game that, though lost in the last seconds of play, was a moral victory for the season of 1928.

On the night of January the fourth, the Board of Trade tendered a banquet to the entire squad. This was in itself a sufficient reward for their efforts.

With a very few veterans and a stiff schedule the track squad set out to make the season a series of victories. The team administered to Brockton its first defeat ever met with on their home track. Newton had defeated some of the strongest teams in the state and when the day of the first meet approached, Newton was declared to have the edge over Brookline, but the latter had an aggregation of fighting boys, and went into the meet with determination to carry the Brookline colors to a glorious victory, which spirit resulted in the defeat of Newton, making a grand total for Brookline 78, Newton 71.

Little "Johnny" Badaracco, the star dash man, with 300 yards was instrumental in getting Brookline's successful season which disclosed much athletic ability featuring "Al" Prince, a first place winner in the state meet broad jump, and a consistent point winner in the high jump; "Mel" Lynsky and Chandler Hagen-Burger in the dashes; "Harry" Fink and "Al" Lacosio in the shot put and broad jump respectively, both of whom were third place winners in the state meet; "Johnny" Jewett and Irving Rogers in the 1000; "Dick" Werner and Eugene Record in the 600; and Dave Barrie, Peter Racheotes, and Frank Neer in the high jump. There are numerous other fellows who helped their team to victory in no small measure by their diligence, spirit, and faithfulness in daily practice.

The team is indebted to Mr. Hines, for his patience and untiring efforts in working with the boys and to the school for its ardent support in all the meets.

Boys' Swimming Team

Captain, RALPH FAY Manager, FRED JANVRIN

The swimming team of 1928 according to critics and Mr. McNamara, the coach, is probably the best that has ever been produced by the High School. In fifteen meets, Brookline has bowed only to Exeter and Brown Freshmen, and these two were decided only when the relay was won. For the first time in fifteen years Andover acknowledged defeat by Brookline. And for the second time in as many years Dartmouth Freshmen were beaten by the formidable Red and Blue. All credit is due primarily to Mr. McNamara, the coach, who has worked most patiently, with the new material from last year and the nucleus for only six letter men.

Brookline's quartette, composed of Blaine Eynon, John Rae, Martin Ford, and Ralph Fay, have gained the distinction of amassing seven-eighths of the total number of points this year, a record that probably is the best that has been produced by any one High School winning team.

The Lt. George Meehan trophy was contested for as the last event of the colorful season and was retained by the superb work of the team, who scored a total of 28 points, the highest number ever made in a championship meet. The relay ended the season by breaking the New England record in the fast time of 156.4.

Girls' Swimming Team

Captain, ESTHER MORISON Manager, BETTY RICHEY

The girls' swimming team has again passed through a season undefeated.

The veterans this year were—Betty Richey, Eileen Manning, Rosemary Loeser, Pauline O'Day, and Esther Morison. The rest was all new material which Coach McNamara quickly got into shape. These included Marion Meyers, Betty Greenleaf, Alice Werner, Helen Cooper, Mildred Bell, and Barbara Richardson.

The first meet of the year was held with Malden High School at the Brookline pool. This meet was won by a wide margin, the score being Malden 13, and Brookline 40. Brookline scored two places in each event, and in all except two placed first and second. Brookline also won the relay.

The next meet was held at the new Pawtucket pool with Pawtucket High School. This meet was a match between two old rivals, and the points were bitterly contested. However, Brookline again came out on the right end of the score, winning 34 points to Pawtucket's 16. In every event except one Brookline took first place.

To wind up the season a return meet was held with Pawtucket High School at Brookline. Again Brookline won, after some pretty close races. The final score at this meet was—Brookline 39, Pawtucket 11. Brookline won the relay in every meet.

The girls winning their letters for working with the squad and swimming in the meets were—

Manager, Eleanor Anderson Assistant Manager, Betty Richey

Faculty Coaches, Miss Sherman, Miss Blunt

The enthusiasm for girls' hockey this year was greater than ever. Many girls from every class reported for practice. From these a varsity, second varsity, and class teams were chosen. A class tournament was held which was won by the seniors. The class of 1928 has held the leadership in hockey since competition was introduced, three years ago. The Sophomores again placed second, losing only to the Seniors. The Juniors placed third and the Freshmen last. The classes were captained by Carol Densmore '28, Edith Greenleaf '29, Betty Richey '30 and Barbara Richey '31.

The results of the varsity games were disappointing but not if one considers the fact that the squad had only two coached practices a week, whereas most of the teams they played against had five.
